While it is possible for homeowners to buy solar panels themselves, either used or directly from the manufacturer, there are a few reasons to buy them through an installer.

Where can I buy solar panels?

Generally speaking, you can buy solar panels in a number of different places. This, of course, depends on the exact system you're interested in. Certain systems can only be bought through registered dealers, while others can be purchased directly from the manufacturer, at hardware stores, through feed stores, or even online.

Should you buy or buy a solar system?

Consumers have different financial options to select from when deciding to go solar. In general, a purchased solar system can be installed at a lower total cost than system installed using a solar loan, lease, or power purchase agreement (PPA). If you prefer to buy your solar energy system, solar loans can lower the up-front costs of the system.

Should I buy a solar panel system from a large company?

One popular option for installing a residential solar panel system today is contracting through a large solar company, such as SunRun. There are certain advantages to buying a solar panel system from a large solar company.

Can you buy solar panels with a loan?

Given that solar panels are warrantied for 25 years (and last much longer) that leaves plenty of time to accumulate savings. Let's face it, not everybody has $20,000 to $30,000 in cash lying around - but that doesn't mean you can't buy solar panels. Solar loans offer a steady monthly payment that can front-load your solar savings.
